particularly to a rotary die apparatus which incorporates the steps of sealing the fuse contacts together and then moving them out of a mounting die for final assembly. 2. Description of the Prior

Art Fuses having rims which are to be sealed to prevent moisture from entering the interior of the fuse between the rims are well known. The sealing of the fuse contacts within the fuse housing to seal the exterior of the fuse is also known. It is also well known to provide for the cleaning of the fuse contacts prior to the step of sealing the fuse contacts to remove debris and other materials which might otherwise damage the contacts and which might also interfere with the fusion operation. The cleaning of the fuse contacts should be done prior to the forming of the seal thereabout. While such cleaning could be done in a conventional manner by a hand operation, the use of machinery to automatically clean the contacts and then seal the contacts with a resulting sealing of the contacts without damage to the contacts or fusion has not been provided heretofore. 1d6a3396d6
