You can either select the number to be a random variable or a question based variable. The later will generate a value for your numeric/date/choice variables from a question based table. Each question is split into 4 sections, the title, the layout form, the answer and the instructions. You define the type of answer, e.g. numeric, and the type of question, e.g. numerical. Then you choose the layout form and select a question based table. In this case, you can select a table with values, such as a random b7e8fdf5c8
